Who will be the Top of the Tots?

The Globe is searching for this year's bonniest baby

HUNDREDS of Wirral's bonniest babies, all with their own bit of star quality, are competing in this year's Bonny Baby competition.

Our very own professional photographers David Gennard and Chris Sumner photographed an amazing 350 babies over the course of four days.

The photo sessions took place in a specially prepared studio in Birkenhead Market, who are sponsoring the competition.

Proud parents queued for hours, each convinced that their bundle of joy is destined to be the top of the tots 2006.

Each parent will be given a 7x5 photograph of their baby. And, with Christmas drawing ever nearer, parents, relatives and friends have the opportunity to purchase extra prints and photo packs and a selection of photo gifts with their baby's image on it, including keyrings, mouse mats, mugs, t-shirts, drinks coasters plus lots more.

Visit the website at www.wirralglobe.co.uk/photos or telephone 0151 906 3022 for details.

Alternatively, you can call into our reception at Haymarket Court, Hinson Street, Birkenhead.

As cute as the little ones are, we all know they don't stay that way for long. As parents, it's important to preserve your memories of their baby days with extra special mementoes.

But first of all, now is the time to register your vote! Maybe it's a winning smile, chubby cheeks, or those cute dimples that make all the difference - you decide.

The baby with the most votes will be announced in the Globe on Wednesday November 15, together with the two runners-up. Remember - there are some great prizes on offer for all the lucky winners! You can vote as many times as you like and for as many babies as you wish (in case you're having trouble making a decision!)

HOW TO VOTE

Inside the Bonny Baby 2006 supplement, each baby has their own individual number printed underneath their picture.

To vote by phone, simply call 0901 151 and add the last 4 digits of your chosen baby.

For example, if it was baby 1234 you'd like to vote for, simply dial 0901 151 1234. Calls cost 50p, but calls from mobiles, payphones and non-BT lines may cost more.

To send your entry by text, simply start your text with CWBABY, leave a space and then add the last four digits of your chosen baby and send your text to 88010.

Texts cost 50p plus your normal operator charge. Lines are open 24 hours and will close at midnight on Sunday November 12. Service provided by Newsquest Media Group.

□ Don't delay - vote today!

PRIZES INCLUDE...

Century travel cot to suit children from birth to four years

Graco booster seat from the Pram and Toy Centre in Birkenhead

A £50 pamper voucher for mum, courtesy of the Hair, Beauty & Nail Lounge in Birkenhead Market

A framed photograph from the Wirral Globe

Plus lots, lots more!

New child seat laws now in operation

It is hoped that new laws which came into effect last month will help to save up to 2,000 children per year from death or injury in road accidents.

This means many families will be obliged to buy new car seats or booster cushions for their children.

Here are just a few frequently asked questions...

Which children are affected?

All children under 135cm (4ft 5in) tall, unless they have passed their 12th birthday, must use a child seat appropriate for their weight.

Most children reach 135cm around the age of nine.

How do you find out what kind of seat is appropriate for your child?

Weigh your child and ask a shop assistant, or use the following guide:

□ up to 13kg (2st 11lb) - a rear-facing baby seat.

□ 9kg to 18kg (1st 6lb - 2st 12lb) - a forward-facing child seat.

□ 15kg to 25kg (2st 5lb - 3st 13lb) - a booster seat.

□ 22kg (3st 6lb) or above - a booster cushion, or modern booster seat designed for larger children.

□ A booster seat is like a booster cushion, except it has a back, and may have protection for a child's head in the case of a side impact.

The Government suggests trying the seat before you buy it, to make sure it can be fixed properly in your car.

Which children are not affected?

A child over the age of 12 or more than 135cm tall, may use an adult seat belt. However, the Department for Transport recommends that children should continue using booster cushions or booster seats until they are 150cm (4ft 11in) tall.

What are the main changes from the existing law, when it comes to carrying children in cars?

□ Up to now children aged between three and 11 have been obliged to use the appropriate seat or cushion "if available" - now they have to use it full stop, with only a few exemptions.

□ Children under 12 and less than 135cm tall may not travel in the front of a car without an appropriate seat or cushion, under any circumstances.

□ Children under three may not travel without an appropriate seat, whether they are in the front or the back, except in the rear of a taxi.

□ It becomes illegal to use a rear-facing baby seat in a front seat protected by an airbag.

Are there any exceptions to these rules?

Yes. There are three cases where a child between three and 12 years old may travel in the back of a car using no more than an adult seat belt:

□ On short and occasional journeys made for reasons of 'unexpected necessity'.

□ When two other children are already using restraints in the back seat, leaving no room for a third. (However, it would often be safer for the child to travel in the front of the car, using the appropriate seat or cushion.)

In addition, children under three may travel in the back of a taxi without a special seat or cushion and in old cars with no seat belts - children between three and 12 may travel in the back seat, though the Department for Transport points out that this is 'not safe'.

Emergency vehicles, including ambulances and police cars, are also exempt.

SAFETY FIRST: Booster seats that meet all legal requirements are available from the Pram & Toy Centre, Charing Cross, Birkenhead. For more details, visit www.pramandtoycentre.co.uk

Once upon a time in

BIRKENHEAD MARKET

Once upon a time in Birkenhead Market my brother and I went shopping with my Mummy...

Because we had been very good, mummy said we could have a lovely party and invite all of our friends. But first we had to buy lots of yummy things to eat and something special for us both to wear.

There are lots of people at the market and so many stalls to look at. We go to the market a lot so everyone knows us. Collecting waves and smiles all the time because you get lots and lots!

Mummy's shopping list was very long but we didn't need to go anywhere else. We got everything we wanted at the market.

There are lots of fantastic toys to choose from in the market. This is also where we got our uniforms from. This is fun as it's by the sweet shop!!!

Our party clothes made us feel great, we're the coolest kids in town. We got some sweets and prizes so we can play party games with our friends. Daddy came to help us with our bags, but he started to look around too!!!

I didn't want to go home but mummy said that if I tidied up my toys we could go to the market again soon. I hope so!
