

Friday 17th November 2006

BY now, you all will have seen Terry Wogan and his famous chest on THAT BBC advert, which should have you well and truly geared up for this year's Children in Need.

On Friday, November 17, the annual seven-hour television and radio extravaganza will take place and McFly, Girls Aloud and the Sugababes are just some of the bands lined up to bring you a wonderful evening of entertainment. The event will raise millions of smiles and pounds for disadvantaged children throughout the country.

Terry Wogan will be joined on the night by fellow hosts Natasha Kaplinsky and Fearne Cotton. They'll all be introducing some great acts, including the casts of Holby City, The Bill, Hollyoaks, Two Pints of Lager and a Packet of Crisps and Bad Girls who will each be doing a special performance of their own.

Remember - every penny you give goes towards helping children and young people in the UK, so dig deep and let's make this year's Children in Need Appeal bigger and better than ever!
