

Spotlight on Culcheth

A shopper's delight!

THE first impression as you drive into Culcheth is the fresh open outlook created by the large village green covered with glorious clusters of plants. Adding further to the village atmosphere is the unique millennium garden and the parish notice boards.

But any assumption that this village, like so many others, would have only limited shopping facilities is quickly dispelled as soon as you park...and there is ample parking.

The extensive range of shops and services caters for everything from basic necessities to special purchases, making shopping trips into congested town centres unnecessary.

On the first floor, over Sainsbury's store is the CPS centre housing 28 independently owned shops as well as a coffee shop. This unique covered shopping floor provides a fantastic shopping experience.

Services such as hairdressing, shoe repairs, garment alterations and beauty treatments rub shoulders with traders offering art tuition and picture framing. In the mix are clothes shops, a boutique, toys, jewellery, cards and crafts, household goods and hardware, health foods, gifts sewing materials and furniture.

Just a short walk away is the new Courtyard, which features Pipsqueaks (designer clothing from 0-16), estate agents, an Italian restaurant and a kitchen shop among others.

On the periphery of the village green is a parade of shops on Lodge Drive, where you will find that increasingly rare tradesman, the family butcher surrounded by a variety of shops including a television and radio shop, a florist, a newsagent, chemist and dry cleaners.

In addition to these useful shops, elsewhere in the village are a variety of pubs, a bank, a travel agent's, cafes a fish'n'chip shop and library.

You can even make yourself beautiful with Dr Xavier and Talking Teeth both present in the village.
