A shopper's paradise!

KNUTSFORD'S reputation as a great place to shop for all manner of goods shows no sign of abating. It's a shoppers' heaven, packed into one of Cheshire's most famous centres with streets lined by all kinds of extraordinary architecture from the quirky style of Gaskell Tower to perfect examples of Cheshire brick terracing. In recent years, the retail attractions of Knutsford have grown to a level large enough to challenge nearby Wilmslow and attract shoppers from across the county and beyond. A shopping excursion to King Street has become an essential aspect of Cheshire life.

There are many reasons for this. The shops are stylish and disparate, offering something for everyone, from contemporary furniture to poster art; Bohemian craft emporiums to delicatessens and bakeries; from a supermarket to a proliferation of fashion shops, all of which are supported by that exceptional spread of restaurants, cafes and pubs. Another attraction for visitors is the large selection of charity shops offering some of the highest quality bargains in the north west. What's more, the heart of Knutsford is set to further improve with the opening of the town's £15 million retail development which centres around the old Royal George Hotel site. Gaskell Estates is building recently-named Regent Street with offices, shops, apartments and two restaurants. It will link King Street and Princess Street and will create about 200 jobs once it is finished. Work began during the summer on preparing the ground for Knutsford's first underground car park. In addition, the Royal George Hotel itself is set for a "stunning transformation" which the developers stress will retain the character and beauty of this much-loved building and in particular, the famous old ballroom.
